

Bucknill, Captain of the Eleven; J. T. Soutter, and W. Yardley, elected.

Mr. Masterman, seconded by Mr. Gray, then proposed that the Stewards of the Athletic Games form a Committee, with power to add to their number, to revise the Racquet Rules. This was carried nem con.

THE RACQUET CLUB.

WE hail with pleasure the new state of things at the Racquet Court. A committee, consisting of the Athletic Stewards, was appointed by Bigside Levée to revise the rules of the Racquet Court, with a view to giving more time for the better players to practice. It may be said by some that the rules (which we give under) virtually exclude all the School except the 36 from the greater part of the hours; but it must be remembered that there are few able to play racquets at all, who are not included in the Club, and those few will not be worth much if they cannot get a place in it, by challenging.

RULES FOR THE RACQUET COURT.

- 1.—That the RACQUET CLUB consist of 36 Members for the present.
- 2.—That three days a week, namely, Monday, Thursday, and, Friday, be set aside wholly for the use of the Racquet Club.
- 3.—That the remaining days be open to the whole School alike.
- 4.—That any Member of the Racquet Club be liable to a challenge from any one not in the Club: and if beaten, that his place be taken by the winner.
- 5.—That all challenges must first receive the sanction of the Committee; and no challenge be played on any of the Club days.
- 6.—That if the challenger be beaten, he be not allowed to challenge the same player again for six weeks.
- 7.—That no challenge be allowed for the first 3 weeks.
- 8.—That no Member of the Racquet Club take on any Member of the School on a Racquet Club day, unless unable to make up a game without him. And, that any Member of the Racquet Club finding any Member of the School on may take his place at once.
- 9.—That the Committee have power to eject any Member from the Racquet Club, and fill up his place or not at discretion.
- 10.—That Courts be taken a fortnight in advance; but no Member of the Racquet Club may have his name down more than once in 3 days, no Member of the rest of the School more than once in a fortnight.
- 11.—That the Masters be Honorary Members of the Racquet Club.

No signs of the building of the long-talked-of Pavilion have as yet appeared. Did we not know that the Committee appointed for the object included some most energetic and persevering Old Rugbeians, and that they have, moreover, to contend with difficulties in high quarters, we should be inclined to accuse them of neglect. As it is, we hear that £300 more has yet to be raised, and that the money at present subscribed (about £500) has been profitably invested. We must therefore call upon all who have not yet subscribed to give liberally, and wait patiently, in confident expectation that when we do get a new Pavilion it will be something magnificent, as the largeness of the sum required leads us to anticipate.

TERCENTENARY FUND.—We understand that a supplemented list of subscriptions to the above will be published very shortly. We would therefore strongly urge all O.R.'s who have not yet subscribed to send in their names without delay, as the Committee, we hear, are desirous to form an estimate of the amount that is likely to be raised.

The following is, we believe, a correct list of the Old Rugbeians who have passed for, or entered the Army during the year, 1867:
