

12TH WARWICK.

	200yds.	500yds.	Tl.
Captain Tobin	16	14	— 30
Lieutenant Graham	13	10	— 23
Sergeant Baynes	6	6	— 12
" Humphry	13	12	— 25
Corporal Penrose	9	11	— 20
" Botfield	11	12	— 23
Lance-Corporal Stuart Wortley	14	5	— 19
" Whiting	10	13	— 23
Private Cobham	11	6	— 17
" Peel	12	5	— 17
" Selous	9	10	— 19
Total	124	104	228

TRINITY COLLEGE, CAMBRIDGE.

	200yds.	500yds.	Tl.
Captain Tomlinson	14	7	— 21
Ensign Mackintosh	13	2	— 15
Sergeant Carlisle	16	5	— 21
" Ingham	12	11	— 23
Corporal Bouverie	12	12	— 24
" Kinlock	14	13	— 27
Private Reid	11	4	— 15
" Templer	15	13	— 28
" Ingram	12	8	— 20
" Barber	14	10	— 24
" Buxton	12	9	— 21
Total	145	94	239

THE RACQUET COURT.

A novelty was introduced at the Racquet Court, on a certain wet Saturday afternoon; a handicap being played among the Eleven and Twenty-two. This limitation was made, in order if possible to get it finished that afternoon—only one round, however, could be got through. A committee acted as handicappers. The numbers indicate the number of points given.

Tobin ma.	} 0	beat	Francis	} 12
Gwyer		Badger
Walker	} 0	"	Lambert	} 0
Graham		Lloyd
Yardley	} 0	"	Rowden	} 6
Gray		Gardnermi
Moberly	} 0	"	Walsh	} 7
Neilson		Hudson
Gardner ma.	} 0	"	Mawdsley	} 0
Fitzgerald		Lushington
Sidgwick	} 0	"	Tobin mi.	} 2
Maitland		Botfield
Bucknill	} 6	"	Eaden	} 0
Baring		Pearson
Mr. Wilson	} 0	"	Mr. B. Smith	} 4
Mr. Sidgwick		Mr. Potts

SECOND TIES.

Mr. Wilson	} 3	"	Tobin ma.	} 0
Mr. Sidgwick		Gwyer
Sidgwick	} 0	"	Graham	} 7
Maitland		Walker

CORRESPONDENCE.

Contributions will be received at the Advertiser Office, or at Mr. Pepperday's, under cover to the "Editor of the Meteor."

To the Editor of the Meteor.

DEAR SIR,—On the supposition that your article on Debating Societies has found the same favour in the eyes of the School as in mine, I should like to suggest two ideas for putting it into successful operation.

The first is—That, if the Masters do not object, the meetings of the School Debating Society should be held successively in the halls of the different Houses.

The second is—That either alternately with the Debate, or in addition to it, there should be held meetings of a Shakspeare Club, or Literary Society; i.e., that a play of Shakspeare, or some chosen pieces from the Poets—such, for instance, as the Ancient Mariner, or the Morte d'Arthur, or one of the Idylls, or some of the finer pieces of less known authors (of which notice shall have been given the week before), should be read aloud by the fellows, and discussed either then or at the next meeting of the Debating Society.

The grounds for suggesting the first idea are: that, as you pointed out, a School Debating Society would be a great means of opening up Houses; and the adoption of this plan would render it a still greater means. These are my reasons for thinking so: If the debates are held in the Vth. or VIth. School, fellows will probably walk there and back with their own House, just as they do to lessons; and that the chances of acquaintance with men of other Houses would not be very greatly increased, while the ugliness of the Schools themselves, or rather, I should say, the "schooliness" of them, would take away from the pleasure of the Debate.

If the fellows can be brought together into House halls, the novelty of their meeting-house (I'm strictly orthodox) will prevent the Debates from feeling like lessons; and the fellows to whom the hall belongs will, or ought, to feel put on their honour to show a certain amount of cordiality and friendliness in their reception of comparative strangers. More reserved fellows will often have almost forced upon them the opportunity of talking to fellows of other Houses whom their reserve alone has prevented them from getting to know before. The hanging